Robert,

It has been a week now and you have not done what you said you would do. This is the second time I've attempted to do business with you, and the second time you tried to rip me off. I gave you the benefit of the doubt the first time around. I think you will recall the first time I bought your book and had to send 15 emails over 3 months before you finally sent what I paid you to send. I'm on to you. I know you are a con. I called all the hotels you had other seminars listed at and none of them knew anything about you or your seminars.

You already have my order information. If I don't hear from you right away and see a deposit in my account immediately, you will see how serious I am. My resolve and will is legendary among people who know me. You will see just how strong my will is if you do not rectify the situation.

Mark

Subject: Refund for LA Seminar Cancellation

Robert,

WHEN will my refund be issued and how will it be issued - credit card, check?

Mark

Dear Mark,

Due to a security concern I am canceling the LA seminar this weekend. This decision was made only minutes ago. I will be issuing you a full refund and also sending you a detailed letter explaining the circumstances. Needless to say, I do not make this decision lightly.

Hello,

Where is the seminar located this weekend in Los Angeles? A Google search for Hotel Bel Air in Los Angeles returns three addresses. When I called all 3, none of them had any knowledge of an Investing in Land seminar this coming weekend on the 4th and 5th. Please provide the exact hotel address, so I can make reservations for a room.

Thanks!

Mark
